NEW BRITAIN BAPTIST CHURCH AND BURIAL GROUNDS

The New Britain Baptist Church, located in what is now New Britain Borough, was organized November 28, 1754. It is an offshoot of the old Montgomery Baptist Church, founded in 1719. Twenty-four years before the organization of the New Britain Baptist Church, the numerous Baptists located there held meetings in private houses, but still attended Montgomery Church when conditions of roads and weather permitted. In 1744 the New Britain Baptists petitioned the Montgomery Church for a more central location of the church building.

This being refused, a meeting house was built the same year at New Britain. It was known as the Society Meeting House. The graveyard is probably coexistent with the Society Meeting House, but published records are silent on this point.

The annexed list of tombstone records was found in an old blank book deposited in the Bucks County Historical Society. It is not known to the present librarian who may have copied the inscriptions. The work was apparently hastily done and therefore may not be devoid of errors. The names are grouped by families and an alphabetical arrangement will facilitate finding individual names.

THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The history of the United States of America is a story of a people who have grown from a small colony of English settlers to a great nation. The story begins in 1492 when Christopher Columbus discovered the New World. The first English settlers came to America in 1607, and the first American Revolution was fought in 1776. The United States has since grown into a great power, and its history is a story of progress and achievement.

SOUTHAMPTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The Southampton Baptist Church, the oldest in the county, dates back to 1691, when a division among Friends resulted in one branch, often called the "Kethian Baptists," meeting once a month at the house of John Swift, in Southampton, with John Hart as their pastor. In 1702 the little congregation worshipping at Swift's united with the Baptist Church organized at Pennypack, December 13, 1690, but the meetings in Southampton were continued at irregular intervals until 1730, when John Morris, who had often provided shelter for these early Baptists, gave them a lot of one acre on which to build a meeting house and for a graveyard.

The meeting house was built in 1731. The congregation continued to worship at Pennypack until 1745, when their petition for dismissal to constitute themselves a new church was granted. The annexed list of burials was compiled by the late Oliver Hough, the well-known genealogist and historian.

THE HISTORY OF THE

The history of the world is a long and tedious story, but it is one that is full of interest and variety. It is a story of the human race, of its struggles, its triumphs, and its failures. It is a story of the great empires, of the great wars, and of the great discoveries. It is a story of the human mind, of its power, of its limitations, and of its potential. It is a story of the human heart, of its joys, its sorrows, and its hopes. It is a story of the human spirit, of its strength, of its weakness, and of its glory. It is a story of the human race, of its past, of its present, and of its future. It is a story of the human condition, of its beauty, of its ugliness, and of its mystery. It is a story of the human experience, of its richness, of its poverty, and of its grandeur. It is a story of the human world, of its diversity, of its unity, and of its destiny. It is a story of the human race, of its history, of its culture, and of its fate. It is a story of the human mind, of its power, of its limitations, and of its potential. It is a story of the human heart, of its joys, its sorrows, and its hopes. It is a story of the human spirit, of its strength, of its weakness, and of its glory. It is a story of the human race, of its past, of its present, and of its future. It is a story of the human condition, of its beauty, of its ugliness, and of its mystery. It is a story of the human experience, of its richness, of its poverty, and of its grandeur. It is a story of the human world, of its diversity, of its unity, and of its destiny. It is a story of the human race, of its history, of its culture, and of its fate.

ABINGTON, PA., PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AND BURIAL GROUNDS

The Presbyterian Church of Abington, Pa., one of the oldest of that denomination in Pennsylvania, was organized in the year 1714 by Rev. Malachi Jones, who came to this colony from Wales. He was a man of forceful character and soon established a large and flourishing congregation. It started with 70 members. The early membership was chiefly Scotch-Irish, with a small commingling of Low Dutch.

By a deed dated August 15, 1719, Mr. Jones transferred to the congregation a half acre of land. Probably the same year the original log meeting house, that stood for seventy-four years, was erected on this lot and the adjoining burial grounds were laid out. The log meeting house of 1719 stood until 1793, when a new stone church, erected during the ministry of the noted Rev. William Mackey Tennent, D.D., was first occupied. In 1833 the stone edifice was enlarged and entirely remodeled. This building in turn gave way to the present handsome brownstone structure, which was erected between 1863 and 1868, during the ministry of Rev. John Linn Withrow.

In the old burial grounds of this church rest the remains of many noted men and women identified with the activities of Colonial, Revolutionary and subsequent times. The list of old tombstone records herewith presented is recopied just as it was when found in an old blank book deposited in the Archives Room of The Bucks County Historical Society Museum.

It is not known at present by whom nor when the copy was made. As the work was apparently hastily (and in some instances carelessly) done, there are probably errors in it. But it undoubtedly contains genealogical material of great interest, and for this reason it was deemed important to have it recopied in the following typewritten form, so that it could be available to patrons of the Library. The names are often grouped in families and this fact, with the further alphabetical grouping, will easily enable searchers to find a wanted name.

THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

The history of the United States is a story of growth and development. It begins with the first settlers who came to the continent in search of a better life. They found a land of opportunity, but also a land of challenges. The early years were marked by conflict and struggle, but the spirit of the American people was one of resilience and determination. They fought for their rights and their freedom, and in the end, they won. The United States emerged as a nation of great power and influence, and its story continues to unfold today.

Preface

The Hereford Congregation of Mennonites adopted by vote of the church the resolutions outlined on the following pages, and established a separate fund, the income of which only is to be used in the upkeep and cleaning of the cemetery, and with the substantial amounts already so kindly donated, it is made possible to keep the cemetery mowed with the lawn mower. However, there are lots of other improvements that could be made, and as time goes on may be made possible as more gets added to the funds by such who are interested in this plan, and the upkeep of the cemetery.

The record of the inscriptions on the following pages are listed in the order in which the graves appear, and the rows numbered, running along the highway, beginning at the southwest corner.

The inscriptions are copied as closely as possible as they appear on the tombstones, and for the benefit of the future generations, the German was translated to the English as closely as possible.

The object when this was started was to have this in print in book form, however, because of the expenses involved no one was interested at the time to finance it. Therefore, it was done by duplicating for a start, and if later anyone is interested to carry on the work, this can be used as a start, and improved. No doubt, there are errors that have been made unaware, and possibly someone may later take up this work.

The work of transcribing this and reading the proofs of the inscriptions was done in the summers of the years 1932, and 1933, by the following:

Henry Mack, Philadelphia, Pa.
Mrs. Joseph Beidler, Bally, Pa.
Bertha, Lizzie, and Amy Gehman, Bally, Pa.
Mr. and Mrs. David Gehman, Bally, Pa.

Master copies, with 75 duplicate sets, and the following statistics, were compiled during the Winter of 1934, through the courtesy of Gehman Knitting Mill, Bally, Pa., with Ralph Berky, Clayton, Pa., cooperating:--

The first Mennonite Colonists settled in Eastern Berks from 1725 to 1730. The earliest probable death date, legible, in the Hereford Cemetery is "1758 A.D., " on a brown stone marker. The earliest birth date, legible, is that of Chasber Bauman "1724--1789." The earliest complete record is that of "Peter Esbach, 1762--1774." Other interesting data observed:--

CHAPTER I

The first of the great principles of the human mind is the principle of association. This principle is the foundation of all our knowledge and all our actions. It is the principle by which we connect ideas and actions with each other, and by which we form habits and customs. It is the principle by which we learn from experience and by which we improve ourselves. It is the principle by which we are able to predict the future and by which we are able to control our destiny.

The second of the great principles of the human mind is the principle of comparison. This principle is the foundation of all our reasoning and all our judgment. It is the principle by which we compare ideas and actions with each other, and by which we are able to distinguish between the good and the bad, the true and the false, the right and the wrong. It is the principle by which we are able to make decisions and by which we are able to solve problems.

The third of the great principles of the human mind is the principle of classification. This principle is the foundation of all our science and all our art. It is the principle by which we classify ideas and actions into different groups and classes, and by which we are able to understand the nature and the properties of each group and class. It is the principle by which we are able to discover the laws of nature and by which we are able to create new things.

The fourth of the great principles of the human mind is the principle of analysis. This principle is the foundation of all our philosophy and all our religion. It is the principle by which we analyze ideas and actions into their constituent parts, and by which we are able to understand the nature and the properties of each part. It is the principle by which we are able to discover the truth and by which we are able to attain wisdom.

The fifth of the great principles of the human mind is the principle of synthesis. This principle is the foundation of all our poetry and all our music. It is the principle by which we synthesize ideas and actions into a new whole, and by which we are able to create something new and beautiful. It is the principle by which we are able to express our feelings and by which we are able to communicate with others.

The sixth of the great principles of the human mind is the principle of application. This principle is the foundation of all our industry and all our commerce. It is the principle by which we apply our knowledge and our skills to the world, and by which we are able to improve our lives and the lives of others. It is the principle by which we are able to create wealth and by which we are able to achieve success.

In two hundred years the Hereford Congregation has laid to rest in "God's Acre" more than 600 bodies. Of this number, 158, or approximately 25 %, attained the allotted three score years and ten. Truly God is good to "Hereford." (Israel) Ps. 73:1.

Resolved--That we establish a separate fund to be known as "THE BURIAL GROUND FUND" the income of which only, is to be used to keep the burial grounds belonging to the Meeting House of the Hereford Congregation of Mennonites of the Franconia Conference District, in the Borough of Bally (formerly Hereford Township), Berks County, Pennsylvania, in perpetual good, neat and clean order, condition and repair.

Resolved--That all money or property given, bequeathed, devised or conveyed to the said congregation to be used for the said burial grounds, shall constitute the said Burial Ground Fund, shall be under the control and management of the Board of Trustees of the said congregation.

Resolved--That the board of trustees shall not, at any time expend any part of the principal of said Burial Ground Fund, and no part of the income thereof except on orders granted by said trustees on the treasurer of said fund.

Resolved--That the board of trustees shall annually exhibit to the congregation a statement showing the receipts and expenditures on behalf of the said Burial Ground Fund for the preceding year, and where and how the principal thereof is invested.

Resolved--That the said trustees shall have no power or authority to expend any part of the principal of said Burial Ground Fund, but if the annual income from said fund should at any time exceed the necessary expenditures for the same year, this congregation may, in its discretion direct such excess to be added to and become a part of such principal.

Resolved--That the Burial Ground shall be under the control and management of the Board of Trustees and that no person or persons shall grant any permission except by the consent of the Board of Trustees, and that the Board of Trustees of the aforesaid Burial Ground shall at all times be under the control and management of the above mentioned congregation.

Adopted by vote of
The Hereford Congregation of Mennonites
on Aug. the 11th A.D., 1929.

1. The first part of the book is devoted to a general introduction to the subject of the history of the English language. It discusses the various factors which have influenced the development of the language, such as contact with other languages, internal changes, and the influence of social and cultural factors.

2. The second part of the book is devoted to a detailed study of the phonetic changes which have taken place in the history of the English language. It discusses the various processes of sound change, such as assimilation, dissimilation, and the Great Vowel Shift.

3. The third part of the book is devoted to a study of the morphological changes which have taken place in the history of the English language. It discusses the various processes of word formation, such as inflection, derivation, and compounding.

4. The fourth part of the book is devoted to a study of the syntactic changes which have taken place in the history of the English language. It discusses the various processes of sentence formation, such as word order, clause structure, and the development of the auxiliary verb system.

Account of Interments
of the
Nescepak Valley Congregation

Sugarleaf Township, Luzerne County running from the year 1812, June 17th and of as many buried before that time in this church-yard as could be remembered.

If my course of life is ~~about~~ ended
And God takes me up to Heaven
Grants me there to live forever
Then death only will be gain.
Shall I be afraid of death
If I come to Jesus Christ?
Bid of every grief and sorrow
Only bliss awaits me there!
